Chapter Four: student workload and assessment

Article 7. Student workload and assessment of his achievements

1. Student's workload – the time required to achieve the learning outcomes determined by the components of the educational program. The student's workload should be based on independent and contact hours;
2. To determine the student's workload, credit applied - a unit that expresses the amount of work required by the student to achieve the learning results determined by the components of the educational program, expressed in the unit of time - hours. One credit includes the student's workload for 25 hours, which combines both contact and independent hours; Contact hour - the time determined for the student's educational activities with the engagement of the personnel implementing the educational program component, and independent hour - the time of the student's educational activities without engagement of the personnel implementing the educational program component;
3. The student's full workload during one academic year includes 60 (ECTS) credits;
4. Taking into account the peculiarities of the higher education program and/or the student's individual study plan, it is permissible for the student's workload to exceed 60 credits or be less than 60 credits during one academic year. It is not allowed for a student's workload to

- exceed 75 (ECTS) credits in one academic year;
5. Taking into account the duration, volume and structure determined by the relevant field characteristics within the educational program of a qualified doctor of medicine, the student's workload during one academic year includes 60 (ECTS) credits. With an individual student curriculum, the student's workload during one academic year can be determined by more than 60 credits. The total number of credits added above 60 within the duration determined by the sectoral characteristics of the educational program of a doctor of medicine should not exceed 15 credits in total.
 6. Within the framework of master's and doctoral education programs, based on the written request of the student, it is allowed to carry out the study-teaching process with a partial workload according to the student's individual study plan. Part-time teaching-learning workload mode means a student's workload with a total volume of independent and contact hours of no more than 25 hours per week. A part-time teaching-learning workload during one academic year may include 30 (ECTS) credits;
 7. With the request to add credit, the student must apply to the Dean within the registration period specified for this purpose;
 8. In case of registering an additional credit, the student must pay the additional credit fee;
 9. The cost of one credit is calculated by the formula: the cost of the educational program divided by the volume of the program (eg 2250 GEL/60 credits).
 10. Credit is distributed among each component defined by the educational program, such as concentration, module, training course, practice, etc. (except for the scientific-research component of the doctoral level educational program); The study component is one semester.
 11. Credit reflects the amount of work required to complete this or that component and achieve learning outcomes;
 12. After achieving the learning results of the learning course, the maximum assessment of the student is equal to 100 points
 13. Assessment of the level of achievement of the student's learning result in the educational component includes intermediate (single or multiple) and final assessment, the sum of which represents the final assessment (100 points).
 14. Mid term and final assessment (assessment components) includes assessment methods, i.e. the mean/means used to assess learning outcomes (oral/written exam/survey, project, test, essay, demonstration, presentation, discussion, practical/theoretical assignment, working group work, participation in discussion, etc.). The measuring unit of the assessment method is the evaluation criterion, which determines the level of achievement of learning outcomes.
 15. For each assessment component, a quantitative indicator (expressed in percentages or points) is determined from the total assessment score (100 points) in the final assessment, which is reflected in the syllabus of a specific training course;
 16. The final evaluation with more than 40 points and less than 30 points is not allowed, except for the cases provided by the features of the program, in accordance with the rules established by the legislation;
 17. Each component of the assessment defines the minimum competency threshold. The

- share of the minimum competency threshold in the final assessment should not exceed 60% of the total final grade. However, in cases defined by the specific higher education standards for the relevant field, the share of the minimum competency threshold in the final assessment can exceed 60%. Considering the goals, learning outcomes, and specifics of the higher education program, East European University is authorized to define the minimum competency threshold in the assessment method(s), which will be reflected in the syllabus of the particular course.
18. In case of missing the midterm exam with an honorable reason, the student has the right to reinstatement. In case of missing the mid-term exam due to an unjustified reason, the student can apply to the university administration with a request for its reinstatement, in case of which the student is obliged to pay the reinstatement fee of the mid-term exam missed due to an unjustified reason in the amount of 50 GEL;
 - 18.¹ In case of non-attendance at the final exam with a good reason, the student has the right to apply to the university before the end of the exam period and submit a document confirming the valid reason for not appearing in the exam. Article 8. Grand Point Average (Grand Point Average - GPA)

1. The level of the student's academic performance in the university is determined by the points obtained in the study courses, as well as by the 4-point equivalent of the mentioned points - Grand Point Average (GPA);
2. A student's credit-weighted grade point average (GPA) is calculated at the end of each semester, as well as each academic year, based on all grades received during the relevant period.
3. In order to calculate the weighted grade point average (GPA), firstly, the correspondence of the grades received by the student with the GPA is determined according to the principle presented in the table:

Table for conversion of 100-point assessment to 4-point assessment
Grade	Point	GPA
A	91-100	4.00
B	81-90	3.00
C	71-80	2.00
D	61- 70	1,00
E	51-60	0.50
F-Fx	0-50	0.00

- To obtain rating data, students' semester GPA is calculated, when negative grades are also summed; The semester GPA is calculated by the formula: $\text{GPA (semester)} = (\sum \text{GPA of each study course} \times \text{corresponding credit}) / \text{the sum of credits of the study course registered in the semester}$;
- When calculating the students' summary/final weighted average score, the student's grade point average (GPA) obtained in each academic course is multiplied by the number of credits of this course and the sum of the received products is divided by the total number of credits earned within the educational program. Summative GPA is calculated by the formula: $\text{GPA (summary)} = (\sum \text{GPA of each study course} \times \text{corresponding credit}) / \text{total number of credits earned within the educational program}$;
- If the graduate's GPA (summary) is not less than 3.5 - a diploma- with honors is awarded; In other cases, the diploma is ordinary;
